

GLAD NEWS FROM BUFFALO; PASSING THE DANGER LINE

Condition of President McKinley at 3 O'clock Today
Cheered the Nation—He Enjoyed a Comforting
Sleep, Without the Aid of Anaesthetics.

PHYSICIANS ALL FEEL ENCOURAGED

But the Danger of Peritonitis or Other Complications Still Cause Anxiety to the Watchers at His Bedside—
The Crisis Will Come Tonight.

Buffalo, September 9.—The physicians have just issued a statement saying that the president's conditions are more satisfactory this afternoon than at any other time since the shooting.

Very Much Improved
Senator Hanna announced at two o'clock that the president's improvement was the most remarkable. The surgeons are reported as having said that the president will surely recover. Mrs. McKinley is very cheerful this morning and continues to bear up splendidly. Dr. Knoll, who brought the X-Ray machine here said this morning it was doubtful from present conditions if the apparatus will be used, although it will be prepared for instant use.

Assassin Wants a Smoke
S. A. M.—As soon as Czolgosz awoke he begged for a cigar, but was refused. He asked for a newspaper several times, but these were also refused.

The police say Czolgosz is breaking down and will reveal the entire plot before 24 hours have passed. The prisoner has spent at least half of his time since his arrest in the sweat box.

Was a Quiet Night
Last night was the quietest which has been experienced in the vicinity of Milburn house.

There were few arrivals or departures. The six o'clock bulletin revealed a condition that caused apprehension among the watchers, but later reports from the bedside gave added hope.

Czolgosz slept from 9 to 6. His appetite does not seem to have been hurt any by his act. He will be taken before the superintendent of police and other officials during the day. It is thought he is ready to tell all he knows.

Every Word Encouraging
Every word from the president's bedside today has been encouraging and the anxious watchers feel strongly that his life will be spared.

The developments of last night and today were dreaded, but hour after hour passed and the distinguished patient showed not an unfavorable symptom.

Five times during the day the eminent doctors and surgeons during the day assembled for consultation and each time the verdict was unanimous that what change had occurred was for the better.

Not the slightest premonitory symptom of peritonitis appeared and the fresh hope born with the morning grew stronger and stronger as the day advanced.

EVERY AMERICAN WILL CONDEMN HIM

Senator Geo. L. Wellington Roasted for His Interview on the McKinley Shooting.

Cumberland, Md., September 7.—United States Senator George L. Wellington was seen at his home last night and asked for an expression regarding the attempted assassination. He first inquired as to the president's condition, and then said: "I really have nothing to say. McKinley and I are enemies. He has been guilty of an unpardonable offense toward me. I cannot say anything good for him and I do not think that this is just his time for me to say anything bad. I despise the man. I have no use for him and there is no reason for my saying anything. I am totally indifferent in the matter."

Editor of the Gazette, My Dear Sir—Will you have the kindness to read the clipping attached thereto. It shows, I think, the character of the man who spoke the words. Every true born American should condemn him, and every newspaper in the land should open its guns on him. Whatever differences President McKinley and this man had, he should not have expressed himself in the way he has and I think every true American will condemn him which will be his just due. Yours very truly,
JAS. E. SEBRING,
Chicago, September 7, 1901.

Wm. Weaver of Lancaster, Wis., is the guest of H. M. Weaver.

Shaw-Gotch—Assassin.
The name of Leon Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, is being pronounced by the initiated by recollecting how the Russian always introduced a "T" into the pronunciation of the name of the czar. Thus the Russian says "Tzar." In the case of Czolgosz one should say "Tchal-gotch."

With the "T" faintly sounded and the second "T" quite full, the assassin's name, however, will get it as "Shaw-Gotch" and that is about as correct as he can make it.

SAMPSON STEADILY GROWING WORSE

His Wife Says He Takes No Interest in Schley Inquiry, Because He Does Not Comprehend It.

New York, September 9.—In speaking today at Lake Sunapee, N. H., of Admiral Sampson's condition, his wife said:

"He is steadily growing worse." Her voice broke. "I still hope for the best, but I feel the end, the pitiful end is not far off."

"I have done everything in my power to keep his mind from brooding over the affair at Washington (meaning the Schley hearing). I got him up to this place, away from his friends, newspapers and navy business, thinking the change would do him good."

Although we do not discuss it ourselves, I know he broods over it continually. It haunts him day and night. It has prompted the birth of many distressing delusions in his mind.

"I keep all of the department correspondence from him and attend to it myself. He does not yet know anything about the progress of the trial. He takes no interest in it—because because he does not comprehend everything."

PEAT BOGS BURNING

Farmers Near Jefferson Have Been Fighting the Fire for Three Days—Much Damage Done.

Jefferson, Wis., September 9.—Farmers living in the vicinity of Johnson's creek, a small hamlet on the Northwestern road, midway between this city and Watertown Junction, have been working day and night since Thursday fighting fire in a peat bog of twenty-five acres, near the village, which is fast spreading and threatens to destroy much property in the vicinity. It is thought that the marsh was set on fire by sparks from a passing locomotive on Thursday afternoon. Everything is dry in this vicinity and several hay stacks have been destroyed by fire during the last few days.

RUSSIA OFFERS TO BE MEDIATOR

London, September 9.—In diplomatic circles at Constantinople it is said that Russia has offered to mediate in the Franco-Turkish dispute and that Turkey offers to settle for one hundred thousand Turkish pounds.

BAY VIEW MILLS HAVE STARTED UP

Milwaukee, Wis., September 9.—The Bay View Steel mills started up this morning. A number of the strikers returned to work. There was no disturbance.

New York, September 9.—It is stated this morning that the steel trust has refused to appeal to Shaffer for a conference and has decided to ignore the Amalgamated.

MRS. MC KINLEY DOES NOT KNOW

Kept in Ignorance of the Real Cause of the President's Hurts

Buffalo, September 9.—Even to this day Mrs. McKinley does not know that he has been shot, still less does she know that he has been the victim of a villainous attempt at assassination. She has been told merely that he was hurt out at the exposition grounds, and that he needs quiet and careful nursing to put him all right again. Her condition was such that to have told her, no matter how guardedly, the truth of the situation would have been in all probability, to have ended her life before now. She was in a sadly wrecked nervous condition, even before the tragedy occurred.

To have added to all this anything like a statement of the awful thing that has befallen her husband could hardly do otherwise than fatal, in the opinion of those who know Mrs. McKinley's condition best.

She is constantly under the influence of strong tonics and powerful sedatives. A good deal of the time she sleeps. Nobody who by any chance might let her know the true state of affairs is permitted to come near her. She sees nothing whatever in the shape of a newspaper.

H. O. ARMOUR DIES SUDDENLY.

Was Last of Five Brothers of the Late
F. D. Armour.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Herman O. Armour of 201 Produce Exchange, and residence 856 Fifth Avenue, New York city, and formerly of Chicago, expired suddenly yesterday at noon while seated on the front piazza of his summer cottage. Apoplexy was the direct cause of his unexpected death. Mr. Armour enjoyed a drive Sunday morning and appeared to be in his usual health. He came here early in July, and has since occupied the General Winslow B. French cottage, 718 North Broadway.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—"He was the last of my father's brothers," said J. Ogden Armour, speaking of the death of his uncle, H. O. Armour. "His death must have been sudden, though not fully unexpected. He had been ill for two or three years. He came west with my father and located in Milwaukee, going into the packing business. Then he went to New York and opened a branch. He retired ten years ago."

NARROW ESCAPE OF BADGER ANARCHIST

Bohemian Red at Mazomanie Came Near Being Lynched for Approving McKinley Shooting.

Madison, Wisconsin, September 9.—(Special)—Emanuel Zwetlingka, a Bohemian anarchist of Mazomanie this county, Saturday evening in a drug store in that village publicly proclaimed his opinion that: "It was a good thing and all right that McKinley was shot." He narrowly escaped lynching and today the county poor commissioner, who has been aiding Zwetlingka's family to the extent of about $100 annually, cut off further supplies.

FATHER SHOT BY HIS YOUNG SON

Stevens Point Husband and Wife
Quarrel and the Lad Interferes
With a Gun.

Stevens Point, Sept. 9.—(Special)—John Okray, saloon-keeper, grocer and politician, was shot by his youngest son Victor 17 years old. There has been considerable trouble in the family for several months and a few weeks ago Mrs. Okray applied for a divorce, also getting an injunction restraining him from visiting her home. Early this morning Okray went to the house and attempted to force his way in but not succeeding he fired two shots. The boy then took a gun and aiming it through the window, fired. The bullet entered Okray's mouth, coming out through the right cheek. He will recover.

MODERN ENGINES FOR ELECTRIC LINE

The Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville electric road has placed an order with the E. P. Allis works of Milwaukee for two cross compound condensing engines for the Beloit power house.

Each engine is to have a capacity of from 800 to 1,200 horse power and the size may best be indicated by comparing their weight with that of a locomotive. The weight of each engine is greater than the heaviest locomotive and tender, loaded with coal and water, that passes through the city. The fly wheels alone weigh 60,000 pounds on each engine.

These engines are of the most modern type and will be as economical and reliable as any ever built for any of the railroads in the largest cities. They are to be delivered in Beloit, ready to set up about February 1, 1902.

WOMAN DIES IN WHIRLPOOL.

Maud Willard Tries to Navigate Rapids
in Barrel and Loses Her Life.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Miss Maud Willard, of Canton, O., lost her life in an effort to navigate the whirlpool rapids in a barrel. Miss Willard was in a concert hall here when Graham made his recent successful trip through the rapids and she conceived that it would give her prominence to perform the feat. Plans were made for her to go through the rapids in the barrel while Graham should swim that section of the river between the whirlpool and Lewiston. In the afternoon at 3:40 Miss Willard entered the barrel a few minutes later was pulled out into the river by a small boat and cast adrift. The barrel entered the whirlpool in about three minutes after it passed the bridges. There was every indication up to this time that the trip was going to be a success, but at no time until darkness settled did the barrel swing close enough to shore to be captured by the anxious men stationed there. Will and Charles Collins succeeded in securing the barrel soon after 10 o'clock at night. With large stones they broke in the head. The little dog which Miss Willard had taken with her leaped out, but the young woman was unconscious. Before a doctor could reach the whirlpool she was dead. A Canadian coroner has been notified.

MRS. NATION EXCITES ANGER.

Narrowly Escaped Personal Injury at Coney Island for Speech.

New York, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Carrie Nation narrowly escaped personal injury last night at Steeplechase Park, Coney Island, after an impetuous attack on President McKinley. She was about to conclude her lecture when she raised her voice and exclaimed: "McKinley deserves to die. He is the friend of the brewer and the drinking man. I have no care for him. He deserves just what he got."

MRS. NATION EXCITES ANGER.

The escape of the leopard was more effective in keeping people at home than any curfew law could have been. It is said that hardly a person could be seen on the streets of the town after dark.

SEARCH FOR EMMA GOLDMAN

Looking for the Woman Whose Utterances Prompted the Assassination
Pittsburg, Pa., September 9.—Detectives of Pittsburg and Allegheny are looking for Emma Goldman whose writings and speeches Leon Czolgosz says induced him to attempt the assassination of President McKinley. She was in Pittsburg last week, and as the guest of Harry Gordon, spent several days at 707 Wyllie avenue. The country is being scoured for her by detectives. She has apparently hidden herself.

CHICAGO REDS ARE ARRAIGNED

Chicago, September 9.—The twelve anarchists arrested here Saturday were arraigned this morning to answer the charge of conspiracy to assassinate the president. Cases continued to September 19, men refused bail, but bond of the women prisoners fixed at three thousand dollars.

ON TRAIL OF PLOTTERS; TO RUN DOWN THE REDS

It is Believed That There Has Been a Gigantic Plot
Among the Anarchists, to Kill at Least Six of the Great Rulers.

M'KINLEY ONE OF THE MARKED MEN

Two of Those on That Fatal List Have Fallen, While Three More Have Had Their Lives Placed in Jeopardy—Hanna Has Facts.

Buffalo, September 9.—Senator Hanna firmly believes that the attempted assassination of President McKinley was part of a gigantic plot to "remove" half a dozen heads of the nations. In this connection he makes some startling disclosures.

About two years ago the secret service discovered evidences of a plot among the Paterson (N. J.) anarchists to take the life of President McKinley. An investigation promptly followed.

Reports to Hanna
At first the results were rather indefinite and inconclusive, and the secret service withdrew its men. But one of the agents who had been employed in the investigation, an exceedingly able detective who speaks Italian, prosecuted further inquiries upon his own account.

He made a report to Senator Hanna, and the report was of a most startling nature. It was to this effect:

To Be "Removed"
The Prince of Wales (now King Edward of England); King Humbert of Italy; The Empress of Austria; President McKinley; Emperor William; The Czar of Russia.

This was the programme of the Paterson group of anarchists according to the report of the detective.

Report Not Credited
His written report was taken to the White House and shown to President McKinley, but Mr. McKinley gave it no credence. He refused to believe that anyone could "wish to remove" him.

"I am firmly convinced that there was a plot to destroy the president," said Senator Hanna today. "I have no doubt that Czolgosz was in a plot for we cannot believe that he was smart enough to plan out this thing all by himself. Of course he denies that he had accomplices, but the probabilities are that he lied like a horse-thief. It took more than that head of his to scheme out all of the elaborate details of this crime."

Resolved on Punishment
"He admits that he was inspired by Emma Goldman. It is known that the Goldman woman was in Buffalo recently. It is known that Czolgosz had relations with anarchist leaders in Chicago and elsewhere. He is not a degenerate or morally irresponsible. He is an anarchist, and we propose to run to earth every man or woman that had anything to do with the crime or the plotting of it."

ESCAPED LEOPARD ALARMS EVANSVILLE

One of G. W. Hall's Animals Gets Away, and Is Roaming About the Country Somewhere.

Evansville is in a state of excitement over the fact that one of G. W. Hall's leopards escaped from its cage and is still at large.

The animal is one lately purchased by Mr. Hall and not much is known of its disposition. As soon as it became known that the animal had escaped armed parties started out in all directions hunting for it.

The animal was cunning enough to keep out of the way of all searching parties and up to this morning no trace of it had been found.

The last seen of the animal he was making his way rapidly in the direction of this city and may be lurking in the woods between this city and Evansville.

The escape of the leopard was more effective in keeping people at home than any curfew law could have been. It is said that hardly a person could be seen on the streets of the town after dark.

The hunt for the leopard will be kept up today by the owners who hope to locate him.

here have not yet been able to secure the proof that the assassin of President McKinley had accomplices elsewhere, but they believe he had and that they will soon be able to locate them. Czolgosz is "on the rack" at the police station in this city, and important admissions may be wrung from him.

As soon as the report on the plots of the Paterson group has been received here it will be turned over to the special service men, and it is hoped that it may throw some light upon the antecedents of Friday's crime.

Plot Was Frustrated

Washington, September 9.—In their search to ascertain the antecedents of Czolgosz the government secret service officers are making especial effort to learn whether he was in any way identified with the plot to assassinate the president which was frustrated about a year ago. Upon warning from our consul at Naples a hurried investigation disclosed the presence aboard a transatlantic liner of two anarchists, one a stow-away and the other a freeman, who had been selected to come to the United States to assassinate President McKinley.

Important letters were found disclosing the details of a plot and also giving the names of anarchists selected to assassinate certain European rulers. President McKinley expressed the wish that he matter be kept as quiet as possible, and that no aggressive action be taken. It was therefore decided to deport the prisoners. This was done, but it is likely that some, if not all of them, have since entered the country at another port.

Congress Will Enact Law

Washington, September 9.—The fifty-seventh congress will not only take up the question of enacting a law to prohibit immigration of Europeans who are suspected of being affiliated with anarchist organizations, but will undoubtedly give consideration to the recommendation of the department of justice for the enactment of a law that will constitute a deadly assault upon the person of the president of the United States as treason. Treason is punishable by death. Senator McComas of Maryland and Senator Scott of West Virginia have already indicated their purpose of introducing bills which will cover the exigencies created by this last demonstration of anarchism. They will have an abundance of support and cooperation from a large element in the house.

CANNING FACTORY RUNNING SMOOTHLY

The Delivery of Corn Averages About 150 Loads Per Day—Output
is About 75,000 Cans Daily.

The canning factory is now running smoothly. All that can be handled with one tier of machines is being received daily. The delivery of corn averages about 150 loads a day and amounts to about $1,000. The output of the factory is about 75,000 cans per day. The employees work about fourteen hours per day and expect as long as the farmers continue to bring in corn. So far there have been but very few complaints from the farmers.

They are getting a fair price for their produce and can unload as soon as they get to the works and have their load weighed. Each man carries home with him a load of green husks and cobs that have had the corn taken off. This makes good fodder for the cattle, who really get all there is to eat with the exception of the kernel.

The canning company have already made numerous contracts for next year's acreage and in almost every case the farmers have doubled their this year's contracts. It would seem from this that the farmers are satisfied with the treatment they have received at the factory so far this season, and that with a good season next year all departments will be kept going full blast.

PRAYERS IN CHURCHES TO SPARE LIFE OF PRESIDENT M'KINLEY

Eloquent Sermon at the Congregational Church by Rev. R. C. Denison, Eugolistic of the Wounded

Chief Executive—Services at Other Churches.

From every pulpit in the city yesterday prayers were offered up in behalf of the stricken nation and many were the earnest petitions which went up to the Divine Ruler that the life of President William McKinley might be spared. The loved name was on every prayerful lip and in every loyal heart there dwelt continually an unvoiced prayer which gave an added sanctity and a deeper meaning than usual to the church services. The prayers which were reverentially offered were not alone for the president and the nation but for William McKinley, the manly man who stands as the highest type of American manhood, and for the honored lady of the land to whom the sorrow of the present time comes with the most crushing force.

Prayer for His Recovery.
At the Congregational church Rev. Robert C. Denison offered fervent prayers for the welfare of the president, his wife and the country which he has served so honorably and well, and at the evening service he took for his subject, "William McKinley, Leader of a Republic." The sermon was eloquent and forceful, given with that quiet earnestness which is ever truth's most effective agent, and with a reverential solemnity most appropriate to the occasion. The sermon, while highly eulogistic was the plain, simple truth, plainly told, and the congregation listened intently to every word while tears glistened in many eyes and there was sorrow in every heart, increased by the report that the president's condition was worse. The full text of Rev. Denison's masterly sermon was as follows:

Rev. Mr. Denison's Sermon.
In the midst of prosperity and peace while men were busy with the common affairs of the nation has been shocked, dazed, saddened by a real national calamity. The grief has been national. It shows us how much we are one people; with one heart, one hope, one language, one law. Bound together by the sensitive chords of telephone, telegraph, common business interests and sympathies. At first sight we can see only the black evil only dire loss. But even in this calamity the suggestion that the chief magistrate may serve his country by his sufferings and blood as truly as he has by dedication to her of his intellect, his time, his heart's affection. If it shall be that out of this there shall come abhorrence of lawlessness, not simply rage against the pitiful object who has brought down on his head the hate of a nation, but a new feeling of the sacredness of law—a new determination that law shall be respected. If it shall help us to see whether lawlessness leads; how it is a monster to which nothing is sacred and to whom all things are possible, it will serve even in its sadness.

No Prouder Position
The world has known no prouder position than that of the president of the United States. There is no higher honor as this world's honors go, than for a man to receive that gift at the hands of the American people. No imperial crown of the Ptolemies or the Caesars ever carried with it such high distinction and glory as this.

The great honor of the office does not lie in the fact that America is the leading nation of the world in wealth and intelligence. To be ruler of the greatest and richest people would not make a man the most highly honored among men.

The rules of monarchies come to their place in one or two ways, either by the natural course of heredity—receiving an honor which falls to them merely because they are children of their fathers; or they come to honor by forcing their way as Caesar and Napoleon. But by neither of these methods can a man reach the highest honor in a republic—his father's greatness may get him some minor honors—as for the sons of Lincoln and Grant—but not the highest. That can come only to the one who by reason of his ability, his character, his natural force succeeds in winning the confidence of a great people. No man could force his way to the presidency as Alexander forced his way to the oriental thrones.

High Order of Ability
If he holds it must be by some higher quality than ability to fight. This fact, that the president of a republic comes to his place not by heredity nor by force as the rulers of monarchies do but by reason of his own personality and character makes the attainment of the presidency vastly the highest honor.

The honor of being the president of a republic is greater because the task is greater. It is vastly harder to be a good president than to be a good king. It requires a higher order of ability and character—a greater patience. If the kings of early England did not like the way that parliament acted they broke it up and sent it about its business. If the Caesars of Rome feared the opposition of a senator they sent him away to a far-off province or had him poisoned by his slaves. But the rule of the president must be by patience, by firmness, by tact.

History affords no parallel to the wonderful rule of Lincoln, when with opposition at home and abroad, dissatisfaction and open threat from those who should have supported him he still held on his way until the "ship" was anchored safe and sound, its voyage closed and done. "From fearful trip the victor ship came in with object won."

And certainly since Lincoln there has been no president on whose resources of patience, tact and statesmanship has there been laid so great a strain as on William McKinley. He is preeminently the example of one who rules by judgment, by patience, by reason. He is not the greatest of our presidents but among the greatest.

Leader of a Republic
He has not the original energy and dash and power of Washington; he is inferior to Lincoln in simplicity, in humor and perhaps in breadth. But he presents to his age a clear, wonderful instance of a man who fills and fills nobly the most exacting, trying and exalted of all duties—the leader of a republic.

But of the leader of a republic more is asked than statesmanship. Mere skill in true politics makes no man a true leader in the highest sense of the word. There are other requirements a man must meet, if he fulfill all that God makes it possible for a leader of a republic to. No president's moral influence is as great as his political. His moral qualities are of greater importance than his political—his political are colored by the moral. Then William McKinley is the greatest. He is an example of healthy, wholesome, vigorous manhood. His life like Lincoln's and Garfield's may be studied by any American boy. He exhibits the best American virtues. He has risen from the common people and pushed his way to the front by energy, pluck, thrift and honor. He is another of our big cabin boys. He has the American virtue of courage and bears an honorable war record; he stands before the country as a type of that patriotism which is willing to offer strength and life to the nation. He only can be a true leader who loves the republic—who loves it with all his heart and will offer himself, if necessary, to show his love. Some of the higher moral qualities meet in William McKinley. There is a certain Christian gentleness about him which appears even in his speeches.

Home an American Bulwark
He has shown no over-weening ambition. His checking of the movement for a third term was prompt, manly and patriotic. He has desired to serve out the term of his office in faithfulness and peace and then retire to private life.

Few other qualities there are which I must speak of briefly which stand out in our president's life and which mark him as fulfilling nobly the highest duties of leader of a republic.

The home is the American bulwark. It is more than battlements or armies. That it should be sacred and pure and highly honored is of prime importance. And there are in all literature few instances in which is given a more beautiful picture of that devotion to one's nearest and dearest, which perpetuates the home than is seen in our president's life. His noble untiring affection and attention to an invalid and suffering wife is a rebuke to all who are selfish in the home and who make light of its bonds.

He is a true knight of the home—a man supreme in tenderness and chivalry. This has endeared him to the nation and in this is he a true leader to the people.

Tender in His Love
He is a man too, of real religious faith. From this has flowed a strength into all his life. His faith has steadied his principles and made deep and tender his love.

His prayer that his assailant might be forgiven is no sentimentalism. It is the utterance of a brave heart and a broad mind who has studied in the school of Christ.

It is fitting in deed that from thousands of churches today there has gone up prayers for the sufferer. We pray for his life—we hope that for the sake of the nation, for the sake of the gentle lady over whom he has watched so carefully, he may be given back to life, but if it is not to be so we have had in William McKinley a true leader, not only in statecraft, but in the broader field of life. We may not judge, but according to our best knowledge, if he goes out to meet the King it will be to hear from him the words "well done"—"well done—in a most exacting and difficult sphere of life."

Sang Beautiful Anthem.

During the service the chorus choir sang several beautiful anthems exquisitely and after the sermon the congregation sang "America," that hymn so dear to the American people, both in times of national triumph and of national sorrow. The benedictory prayer brought the impressive service to a close.

At the morning service at the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. T. Henderson read a special passage of the Scripture and offered a special prayer for the president. Similar services were held in other churches.

ALL NOW FEEL ENCOURAGED.

Report that Bulletins Do Not Tell the Truth Regarding the President's Condition Held to Be Baseless—Patient Has a Good Sleep.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The news from the president for the day was good news throughout. It was not merely negative good news, like that of yesterday, when there was good news because there was no bad news, but it is positive good news—a story of distinct improvement in the patient's condition over yesterday. The president's temperature late last evening was over a degree lower than it was even in the morning, when at one time it went up to 102.8, as compared with 102 the previous day. It is now 101. The pulse is slower and the respiration slower and easier. In a word, it is a marked improvement, warranting strong hopes for a favorable issue.

Critical Stage Not Passed.
However, last night was included in the time critical to the president. The patient was seen last night by all the physicians and surgeons who are treating him, and their opinion, as expressed by the night bulletin, was favorable. They found his general condition unchanged, and their examination did not disclose anything of an unfavorable nature. They believe that the president is in a serious condition, and that the crisis will not be passed for another forty-eight hours.

Anxiety of All Continues.
The professional men and officials hope for the best, but until the case has run through the doubtful days they will not be reassured. The Milburn house was quiet, and there were few callers. Among those who entered were Vice-president Roosevelt, Secretary Root, Secretary Wilson, Secretary Hitchcock, Senator Hanna, and Captain McWilliams of Chicago. None of the callers remained long. The night, like its predecessor, was cold. The weather conditions are regarded as favorable for the president. Abner McKinley, brother of the president, reached here at midnight. He was admitted to the Milburn house at once.

Another Day May Decide Result.
"I want to be conservative," said Senator Hanna, speaking of President McKinley's condition this evening, "but if these conditions continue for the next twenty-four hours the surgeons will be able to give us news as satisfactory as we could wish. So far as any human agency can predict this state of affairs will be brought about. The four restful hours of sleep the president had during the day is evidence of his almost normal condition. His mind is clear and his condition hopeful."

Injustice Done Physicians.

Right here a word should be said about the bulletins the physicians are sending out from the sick room. For some reason past fathoming the report has been circulated that they were not truthful; that they were deliberately covered with optimism; that the president's condition was much worse than they indicated. All this is nonsense. The stories discrediting the bulletins do a grave injustice to the conscientious physicians who have the tremendous responsibility upon them, and they likewise are unjust to the government officials who are supposed to have some control of what shall and shall not go out to the public from the sick room.

Facts All Given to Public.

The bulletins issued by the president's physicians are, as far as is humanly possible, an accurate statement of his exact condition. Senator Hanna and Vice-president Roosevelt, who came out of the Milburn house together in the afternoon, both spoke earnestly in disapproval of the reports casting suspicion on the bulletins. Senator Hanna in particular was vigorous in denouncing as false these rumors.

Czolgosz Proud of Friend's Deed.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9.—With the single exception of Mrs. McKinley probably the only person in Buffalo who does not know approximately the president's exact condition is the man who shot him down. Now that he has become fully assured that he is safe from the mob Czolgosz has become quite lively down in his dungeon, and is beginning to enjoy himself as a hero and martyr. He underwent a medical examination to-day as to his sanity, and the result was that he conveyed the impression that he was not only in full possession of his wits, but that he is much more intelligent than at first supposed. The result of his work is unknown to him, and the probability is that he thinks the President is dead. He thought so on Friday night at all events. His constant phrase than was, "The reason I killed the President was," and so forth. He always said "killed" when he referred to what he had done.

Alfonso Stutz Is Released.

So far as the arrests made here are concerned they are unimportant. Chief of Police Bull fully exonerates Alfonso Stutz, although Stutz is still held on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. Stutz got into the tolls because he lived in the boarding house where the assassin went before the crime. Concerning his case Chief of Police Bull said: "We are satisfied that Stutz did not even know Czolgosz, and that he had nothing to do with the crime."

He arrived here the day Czolgosz did and roomed near him. We rounded him up with several others who we believed might have been implicated. We found a pair of brass knuckles on him, and as that was an offense we held him for it. He was formerly a lieutenant in the German army and arrived in America on the steamship Deutschland about ten days ago."

Bulletin at 9 p. m.
The following was the last bulletin last night:

9 p. m.—The president is resting comfortably and there is no special change since last bulletin. Pulse 130; temperature 101.6; respiration 30.

P. M. RIKER,
M. D. MANN,
ROSSELL PARK,
HERMAN MYNTER,
EUGENE WASPIN,
CHARLES M'BURNEY,
GEO. B. CORTELYOU,
Secretary to the President.

Will Search for the Bullet.

"What about the experiment with the X-ray, Senator?" Senator Hanna was asked last night.

"They will be used to locate the bullet," was the reply. "I don't think this will be done till to-morrow. It is believed that the bullet will surely be found by this method, and then if conditions are favorable an operation will be performed."

"Who was it," asked the Senator, suddenly, becoming more serious, "that sent out the statement that reports from the house were being colored? Now, boys, that's an outrage. These reports are meant to be as true as is possible to make them."

"That's true," put in Vice-President Roosevelt. "In fact they are scrupulously under statements, if anything, of what is true. The bulletins really understate the hopefulness of the conditions."

"The bulletins are accurate," he said, "prepared with the utmost care by the physicians. It is outrageous to intimate that they are colored, and it is absurd as well. The professional reputation of these eminent physicians is at stake for one thing, and besides that, they are fully alive to the feelings of American people in this moment of great public anxiety."

"For my part," added Vice-President Roosevelt, "I should say that if there were any leaning one way or another in the bulletins it was towards understatement of the hopeful conditions rather than toward overstatement. The physicians and all responsible for what goes from the president's bedside to the American people have been particular from the start not to raise up any false hopes that might lead to a cruel disappointment. The president's condition warrants the belief that he will recover, and this is even more emphatically the case to-day than it was yesterday."

X-Ray Apparatus Arrives.

An express wagon was driven inside the ropes and stopped near the house at 10 o'clock. Two men carried into the back yard two cases containing the X-ray apparatus brought from the Edison works.

There were many visitors, who just presented their cards and got the news in the earlier hours of the forenoon. Some of them were officials of the exposition and well-known persons in the city. One of the visitors was former Controller Roberts.

A carriage containing Dr. Charles McBurney of New York drove up at 10:20 o'clock. Mr. Milburn and Secretary Cortelyou had gone to meet the doctor at the station. Dr. McBurney was in Massachusetts and was sent for yesterday afternoon. He came on the next train after he got the message. Although he saw the president immediately after his arrival, it was learned from Mr. Milburn that he made no comment on his condition, reserving this till the formal consultation at 3 o'clock.

Members of Cabinet Call.

Senator Fairbanks and Senator Hanna arrived at 11 o'clock. Then came Secretaries Gage, Hitchcock, Knox and Root. All of them came alone. Congressman Alexander and Judge Haight of the court of appeals came together and went away with Senator Fairbanks. They said everything was favorable. The bulletin, they said, told as much as they knew, however.

URGES A DEATH PENALTY

Federal Official Would Punish Assassins.

HE SPEAKS OF ANARCHISTS.

There Is No Statute Which Excludes Persons From Immigration to this Country as Anarchists—Assistant Attorney-General Would Change Law.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The shooting of President McKinley by the man who avows himself to be an anarchist is awakening government officials in Washington to the urgent necessity for the passage of laws by congress which will subject all persons guilty of plotting against the government or against the life of the president to punishment by federal courts. Assistant Attorney General Beck, when asked whether there is a federal law by which anarchists can be excluded from the United States or deported if here, replied:

"I know of no federal statute which prevents anarchists as such from entering this country and remaining here. If a man is an alien and has been convicted of an infamous crime or falls within any other prohibitory feature of the immigration statutes he can be excluded, but there is no statute which excludes him as an anarchist."

"The power of congress to exclude anarchists when aliens is undoubted, for in the Chinese exclusion cases the supreme court held that the power of government was plenary to exclude absolutely all aliens, even though such exclusion conflicted with existing treaties, and the power to exclude carries with it the power to deport an alien for any reason which commends itself to the judgment of congress. The executive department of the government, however, is powerless to act without congressional legislation."

Mr. Beck also said that while there were statutes which make punishable personal violence against minor officials, such as internal revenue agents, there was no law covering deadly assault upon the person of the president. He added:

"Where an attempt upon the life of the president had no reference to the presidential office and was committed within the territorial limits of a state, there might be some question as to the power of congress to legislate, but where it is clear that the attempt has been made not upon the individual, but the president, for the purpose of promoting anarchy, and thus subverting the government, the right of the federal government to protect its chief executive seems too clear for question. 'If the president should be spared it is to be feared that the assassin can be convicted of no higher crime than an assault to kill. Having regard for the immense consequences which follow the assassination of a president, an attempt upon his life, whether successful or unsuccessful, ought in my judgment to be punishable as high treason with death.'"

WANT END TO HANDSHAKING.

Washington Residents Say President Shouldn't Be Exposed to Peril.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The tragedy at Buffalo is causing a renewal of the demand for the abolishment of the practice of shaking hands with a crowd that is imposed upon each succeeding president as a sort of necessary public duty. It is a custom that is exceedingly trying to the physical powers of a president, no matter how strong he may be. President Cleveland realized this early in his first term and assumed the right to abandon handshaking the moment he began to feel the slightest fatigue.

President McKinley has always been fearless and he never could be made to listen to the warnings of his friends that attempts might be made against his life. He took daily walks through the grounds around the White House and often through the streets of the capital without being accompanied. He never appeared alone, however, upon the streets at night, as General Harrison frequently did.

INDIRECTLY RESPONSIBLE
The Chicago Inter Ocean contained a very sensible editorial yesterday, on the silk stocking responsibility for the attempted assassination of President McKinley.

The article closes with the following strong sentiment which will be heartily endorsed by all loyal American people:

"When gentlemen in frock coats and silk hats, occupying stations of eminence and consideration, deliberately characterize the President of the United States as a 'tyrant' and 'butcher,' as a miscreant to be despised and hated, is it surprising that some narrow brained man, already prone by nature to violence, should go out to slay the president?"

"When the infamous crime at Buffalo is sifted to the bottom, when all the facts and motives are considered, we believe that these circumstances will receive due weight and that the verdict of history will point to Carl Schurz, Edward Atkinson, Edwin Burritt Smith, Henry W. Rogers, and their like as no less responsible than Krapotkin and Parsons and Spies and Most for the black crime of Friday."

The country has been disgraced and humiliated by the attitude and utterances of a little coterie of intelligent citizens who have not hesitated to traduce and malign the character and motives of the president at every opportunity. They did more to prolong the disturbance in the Philippines, than all of the other causes combined; and many of them were men who professed to be republicans.

Some of these men were occupying positions of honor, who did not hesitate to betray a loyal constituency. Others were prominently connected with institutions of learning, and they not only preached anarchy in public places like the professor at Knox college, who denounced the president as a "Knaves and a fool," less than two years ago, but they imparted to the young man about to assume the responsible duties of citizenship, the same poisonous doctrine, which plainly stated in cold type, means nothing less than high treason. It is high time for the nation to deal with anarchy, which is nothing less than a viper that should be speedily stamped out of American soil; but when this is done it is well to remember that the silk stocking element is more dangerous and more subtle, because possessed of greater opportunities, and larger influence.

The schools of the land as well as state and national legislatures should be forever freed of this class of disloyal and unworthy representatives. It is not a question of politics, but simply a question of loyalty. If necessary, this class of men should be obliged to subscribe to an iron clad oath of allegiance, that would forever seal their lips from utterances that are poisonous.

The red hand of anarchy does not hesitate to strike in the dark, but back of the deed is a maudlin sentiment, inspired and encouraged by a class of citizens who not only enjoy the privileges of American citizenship, but who are honored by their fellows because of peculiar ability.

Better by far to close up the colleges, and reduce legislative representation, than to have either censure by representatives, who through ignorance or misdirected zeal give expression to theories and teach doctrines that are ruinous to the structure of American government.

CHRISTIAN.
As a citizen President McKinley extended his hand to a stranger in token of friendship based on respect and equality. In return for this exhibition of friendship he is shot. As he gazes on the prostrate form of his would-be slayer, the president's first words are: "May God forgive him." How similar are they to the words of another Christian under similar circumstances, the prayer of a murdered Jew.

Under the circumstances of so much excitement and suffering for a man wounded unto death to ask forgiveness of his assassin is Christian, "Pray for your enemies."

Following this prayer to God is one of his friends in behalf of his wife, Mrs. McKinley. Only another instance to this great man's wonderful love and thoughtfulness for his wife. How many years have been added to Mrs. McKinley's life by the constant care and solicitude of her husband.

LEON CZOLGOSZ, M'KINLEY'S WOULD-BE ASSASSIN.

band, will of course never be known; but this man in all of his power and greatness stands out before the American people as the almost perfect example of what a husband should be.

With how much admiration did the nation witness this man's solicitude last winter in San Francisco, when great occasions and important engagements were wholly forgotten in watching at the bedside of a desperately sick wife, and now, the same nation is compelled to witness the same scenes with the actors reversed. Such home life acts as a leaven in the meal of American democracy, where President McKinley as a man and a husband, one of us, is beloved by all.

ANARCHY MUST GO.
One of this nation's greatest presidents has been brought down by the weapon of an anarchist. Difficult as it may be to punish lawlessness according to lawful methods, it was fortunate for our fair name that the assassin was protected from mob violence.

Anarchy must be stamped out, but it must be done by legal methods. No crime, however dastardly, is an excuse for lawlessness.

The act that has struck down our beloved and admired president, has reached the heart of every citizen in the United States.

Every patriotic citizen feels a personal loss, in addition to the national loss, and is filled with horror at the enormity of the crime.

The attempted and successful assassination of a ruler of a great country is of world wide significance. The insane and enthusiastic cranks that fill the ranks of the only society they are fitted for, have a hatred of everything civilized. They who object to being bound by laws are most in need of them. A man who denies the right of any man to rule, lives a paradox, by making himself the ruler of the opinion of others.

The man who sincerely desires anarchy (which means a government without laws or rulers) is the very man for whom laws are framed. The quiet, patriotic, industrious citizen, is the only fit subject of a nation of anarchy.

responsibility by the votes of millions of loyal subjects. This horrible crime against a nation, a society and a home must be punished according to law; must be punished so quickly and so severely that it will stand out for generations as a glaring warning to anarchy in this and all countries.

Y. M. C. A. STUDY CLASS.
While the bible study and religious instruction is not being neglected by the Y. M. C. association, a new line of secular study has been taken up of late years that is beginning to bear fruit.

The standard of work done in the evening classes can be maintained by examinations given by a board of educators of such reputation as to guarantee thoroughness.

The branches taken up are naturally those which will result in fitness for a better position because of increased information. Although disciplinary branches are frequently taken up, the practical studies in book-keeping, drafting and mathematics are the most popular.

Over 27,000 young men took advantage of these evening classes last year, and over one hundred colleges, and universities have recognized the work done in the classes by accepting their certificates in lieu of those from high schools and academies for matriculation.

We must realize that thousands of young men occupy better positions today because of these Y. M. C. A. evening classes, the influence of which has been increased by their libraries and reading rooms.

The association has demonstrated its ability to become a great educational power without sacrificing in any way its religious motives. One thousand American school teachers have been sent to teach in the Philippines. There is imperialism for you.

Europeans say they do not even think of acquiring American territory; not as long as we have Teddy Roosevelt to warn them to keep off the grass. Such speeches as the one made at Minneapolis are just the thing to remind the other fellows that the Monroe doctrine is not yet dead.

Although Maclay receives $2.48 per day as a laborer, his writing is worth about thirty cents.

Some of the southern states act as though they proposed settling the negro question by the lynching bee.

The Constitution has followed the Columbia all right, but will Shamrock II?

The heart of the sultan has been found in his pocket book.

Gen. George Francis McGinnis was born in Boston in 1826; he served as captain of Ohio Volunteers in the Mexican war, and in the rebellion as lieutenant-colonel and colonel of the Eleventh Indiana Infantry. He fought at Fort Donelson, was promoted brigadier-general in November, 1862, and was mustered out in August, 1865. He lived in Indiana after the war; but we find nothing of or about him for many years.—New York Sun.

TRAGIC DEATH OF MRS. E. MURPHY

FATAL FALL FROM HER PORCH
ON A CONCRETE WALK.

Lay in the Wind and Rain Unconscious for Over an Hour, with Her Left Arm and Hand Broken; and Her Arm and Head Badly Cut—Other Deaths.

Death came to Mrs. Ellen Murphy, an aged resident of this city yesterday morning in a peculiarly sad and tragic manner. After lying for over an hour out of doors, clad only in her night dress which was drenched with the falling rain and with her left arm and hand broken and her arm and head badly cut, Mrs. Murphy was found in an unconscious condition about four o'clock yesterday morning. Death relieved her sufferings at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Murphy was eighty-three years of age and lived in her own home at 161 Locust street. She lived with a grandson upstairs and rented the lower part of her house to Joseph McDonald. Just how the accident occurred will never be known but it is thought that she arose from her bed about three o'clock on Sunday morning, lighted a lamp and went down stairs while partly asleep or unconscious of what she was doing. She went out of doors onto the porch which is surrounded by a low railing over which she evidently fell onto the concrete walk below. Her left arm was broken at the elbow and the bones of the hand were broken and her hand was cut with broken glass from the lamp which she carried and which lay near her. There was also a deep gash on her forehead, evidently made when she struck the sidewalk. This probably stunned her and she lay until her moans of pain attracted the attention of Mrs. McDonald. It was raining hard at the time.

The injured lady was carried into the house and assistance was summoned immediately. Although the injuries in themselves were not sufficient to cause death, the shock was too much for one so aged and in such feeble health and in spite of everything that medical skill could do, Mrs. Murphy closed her eyes forever on the scenes of earth. She regained consciousness for a few moments before her death.

Mrs. Murphy was born in Ireland eighty-three years ago. Half a century ago she came to this country and settled in Vermont where she lived for thirteen years. Then she came to Janesville where she has resided for thirty-seven years, making many friends and winning the esteem of all who knew her. She has been a most devoted member of St. Patrick's church. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. James Walsh, and one son, Jas. Murphy, both of this city, and one adopted daughter, Mrs. Thomas Norton, of Chicago. She is also survived by five grandchildren and two great grandchildren. The bereaved one have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their great sorrow.

Funeral services will be held from St. Patrick's church on Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The interment will be in Mount Olivet.

Mrs. Lavina Dearhammer, 79 years of age, one of the early settlers of this county died at her home in the town of Newark on Saturday evening September 7 at 7:30 p. m., after an extended illness. The deceased was born in Northampton, Pa., March 28, 1822 and had resided in this county for the last 55 years. Her many good deeds and womanly ways had endeared her to a large circle of acquaintances who will be sorry to hear of her death. She leaves eight children: six boys, C. T. of Plymouth, J. M. of Oelwim, Ia.; Isaac and Allen of Beloit, and George and Harvey of Newark and two daughters, Mrs. H. J. Miller of Baraboo and Lula of the town of Newark, who have the sympathy of the entire community. Her husband died on April 12, 1868. The funeral will be held from her home in the town of Newark on Tuesday at 3 p. m. The interment will be at Plymouth.

TO STOCKHOLDERS OF BURR SPRINGS

There Will Be a Meeting of the Subscribers at the Myers House This Evening.

There will be a meeting of the subscribers of stock and those interested in the development of the Burr Springs at the Myers house tonight at 8 o'clock. CUTS OFF A MAN'S HEAD.

Indiana Farmer Decapitates His Son-in-law, Then Kills Himself.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 9.—Buck Wheeler, a farmer, killed his son-in-law, Elias Burns, and cut his head off with an ax, tried to kill his own wife after his brother-in-law had refused to send a bullet into his heart shot himself and may die. The tragedy was enacted near Folsomville, a little village in Warwick county. Wheeler recently got a divorce from his wife and the court gave her one-half of his farm and permitted him to keep the other half. The divorced wife has been making her home with her son-in-law, Wheeler, it is said, has been insanely jealous of his son-in-law. Wheeler went to the tobacco patch where Burns was working, drew a revolver and fired four shots, all of which took effect. Wheeler then left his son-in-law in the field for dead and went to the house. He told Mrs. Burns her husband wanted her to bring him a glass of water and his tobacco knife. Mrs. Burns started for the field and Wheeler drew his revolver and tried to kill his divorced wife. The weapon failed to go off. He looked in the direction of the tobacco patch and saw Burns stagger into the lane and his wife trying to help him to the house. Wheeler picked up an ax, ran down the lane till he met Burns, when he knocked him down and then struck him again on the neck with the ax, severing the head from the body. Wheeler then hastened to the home of his brother-in-law and earnestly besought him to kill him before the sheriff arrived. On being refused the murderer went to the barnyard and blew out his brains.

The "District" Divorce Law.

The new divorce laws of the District of Columbia is one of the strongest in the Union, as good as that in New York. It allows absolute divorce only on Scriptural grounds, with permission to remarry to the innocent party, cases of drunkenness, cruelty and desertion being allowed the remedy of legal separation.—Ram's Horn.

LOCAL ENDEAVORS' ANNUAL BANQUET

Thirteenth Regular Event Will Be Held at the Presbyterian Church on Friday Evening.

The thirteenth annual banquet of the Young People's society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church will be held in the church parlors next Friday evening, September 13. The banquet will be served at 6:30 o'clock in the basement room and will be followed by the customary program of toasts. Invitations have been issued for the banquet, which is always one of the most delightful feast days in the church year, and those who are privileged to be guests at the banquet are the members of the society and the society's invited friends.

Members of the Baptist church are planning for one of their red letter days. It is their annual church day and is to be observed this year on Thursday, September 13. The celebration will begin at six o'clock with an informal reception in the church auditorium. At seven o'clock the entire company will sit down at bountifully laden tables in the church parlors and as soon as the feasting is over there will be various toasts, historical, prophetic, humorous. All members of the church and congregation are expected to be present. Members living at a distance or otherwise unable to be present are requested to send the pastor a sentence greeting for the occasion.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Christian Young People's Union will be held at the Court Street M. E. Church this evening at seven o'clock. Every member is urgently requested to be present.

The Sunday schools of the city have resumed their regular hour for meeting, 12 o'clock noon. Instead of 9:30 a. m., which was made the time of meeting during the summer months.

At the Baptist church last evening the custom of holding a ten-minute service after the Sunday evening service was resumed. These brief and interesting after-meetings were made a part of the life of the Baptist church by the late Rev. A. C. Kempton and proved so helpful that Rev. R. M. Vaughan will continue them.

The September number of Church Echoes, the official local paper of the Baptist church, bears a fine portrait of the late Rev. Murvin G. Hodge; D. D., on its cover and a large part of the little paper is devoted to paying tribute to the princely life which has gone out from this world into life eternal.

Mrs. S. T. Learned of Fort Atkinson has resigned her position as director of the church's music at the Baptist church, owing to the fact that it necessitates her being away from home so much.

The church regrets her loss sincerely as her beautiful voice has been a great addition to the church's services and she has done excellent work for the church choir and in instructing the boys' choir and in leading the ladies' quartet. The quartet has been abandoned but the church will make definite arrangements for its music in the near future.

The Boys' Brotherhood of the Baptist church will meet at the parsonage this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

CERTAIN TO BUILD SPOONER ROAD

F. W. Coon, editor of the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter, was in the city yesterday, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. In reference to the tobacco crop he said: "Throughout Rock county, there will probably be a yield of about 40 per cent. of the usual crop. So far we have sold none, but I learn that in sections like Vernon county where they have had rain, the price is the best it has been in years. If not the best it has ever been."

The cities of Edgerton and Stoughton, have been appointed a committee to investigate the matter of granting a franchise to build the electric road through our section. In my opinion the Spooner people will succeed in getting the franchise for Janesville. I see, has accepted the proposition so far as to send it to a third reading in the council."

Special for Wednesday.

On Wednesday, the 11th instant, we expect an agent here with a large line of women's suits; prepared to take special orders made to one's measure. He represents a Philadelphia manufacturer from whom we buy many of our suits. Tell your friends.

MAKES A SERIOUS CHANGE

Caution Might Have Prevented the Shooting.

BODY GUARD IRELAND TALKS.

It Had Heretofore Been His Custom to Stand Back of the President Just to His Left But He Stood in a Different Position Friday.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The most graphic and accurate account of the shooting of President McKinley comes from Samuel R. Ireland of the United States secret service and a member of the president's bodyguard. Mr. Ireland was first to seize the assassin and bore him to the floor of the Temple of Music. He is a notably cool and level-headed young man and is a favorite with President McKinley. It will be seen that he intimates in his narrative that a change in the position which he usually occupied while the president was receiving crowds was responsible for his failure to prevent the shooting. Here is Ireland's story: "It has been my custom to stand back of the president and just to his left, so that I could see the right hand of every person approaching, but yesterday I was requested to stand opposite the president so that Mr. Millburn could stand to the left and introduce the people who approached. In that way I was unable to get a good look at every one's right hand.

"A few moments before Czolgosz approached a man came along with three fingers of his right hand tied in a bandage and he had shaken hands with his left. When Czolgosz came up I noticed he was a boyish looking fellow with an innocent face, perfectly calm, and I also noticed that his right hand was wrapped in what appeared to be a bandage. I watched him closely, but was interrupted by the man in front of him, who held on to the president's hand an unusually long time. This man appeared to be an Italian and wore a short, heavy black mustache. He was persistent and it was necessary for me to push him along so that the others could reach the president. Just as he released the president's hand and as the president was reaching for the hand of the assassin there were two quick shots. Startled for a moment, I looked and saw the president draw his right hand up under his coat, straighten up and, pressing his lips together, give Czolgosz the most scornful and contemptuous look possible to imagine.

"At the same time I reached for the young man and caught his left arm. The big negro standing just back of him and who would have been next to take the president's hand, struck the young man in the neck with one hand and with the other reached for the revolver, which had been discharged through the handkerchief and the shots from which had set fire to the linen.

"Immediately a dozen men fell upon the assassin and bore him to the floor."

ARMY POLICE CHIEFS TO ACT.

Head of National Society Urges International War on Anarchists. Washington, Sept. 9.—Major Sylvester, superintendent of the Washington police force and president of the Police Chiefs' Association of the United States and Canada, favors international co-operation of police authority for the stamping out of anarchistic societies. The attempt upon President McKinley's life has led Maj. Sylvester to address a letter to the directors of the police association urging them to co-operate with him in securing the attendance at the next annual meeting of the association of foreign police chiefs for the purpose of discussing ways and means of establishing an international bureau that will deal exclusively with anarchists.

POWDERLY IS ANARCHY'S FOE.

Immigration Commissioner Urges Exclusion From United States. Washington, Sept. 9.—Commissioner of Immigration Powderly is bitter toward anarchists and in an interview said: "The immigration laws can be amended so as to exclude from landing in this country persons known to be anarchists abroad by requiring of every immigrant to present a certificate from the municipality in which he resided at home to the effect that he was a respectable, law-abiding man; that he was not in any way identified with any anarchist organization, and that he was of good character. In order to make such a law effective representatives of the immigration bureau should be stationed in foreign countries whose duty it should be to carefully examine into the character of the immigration tending toward the United States.

"I recommended in my annual report for the fiscal year 1900 that all persons landing in this country be liable to deportation during the term they reside here before becoming naturalized or for the period of five years. It is all very well to talk of the United States as the asylum of the oppressed. That did very well years ago, but that was before immigration began to flow so rapidly to our shores. The need of an asylum is not so great now as it was and the danger of making this country a prison and an asylum for vagabonds is increasing every year.

D. N. Hathfield leaves tonight for Cleveland and Buffalo and will be absent about a week.
